

Edmonton Letter

By T. H. Adams
Recorder's Edmonton Correspondent.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 23.—Publication of Alberta's brief on domestic provincial relations by the government, the reported management of a new "technical expert" to advise the government that the Social Credit Board, and proposed by a British financier who has declared that he could create vast new wealth for the province if the government agrees to co-operate with him, has dominated the high lights of the past week at the legislative buildings.

Continued search by the government for "something to try" and increasing evidence of suspicion among cabinet ministers and the rank and file of the Social Credit members were in evidence during the week. Premier Abernethy started it off in his Sunday night broadcast by praying to God to "overturn the present financial system."

By far the most important event last week was the admission by J. H. Williams, London, Ontario, who has presented to Alberta Cabinet an offer which, if it is accepted, can mean great wealth for the province. Because he was visiting the province, Mr. Williams refused to divulge details of his plan. It is known, however, that he has offered a plan by which he would bring into Alberta vast sums of British and American capital for the exploitation of the province's natural resources without cost to the government, thus guaranteeing the province to divide the profits. He also believed to be a person who would arrange a refunding program for Alberta's debt, on a system by which interest would be paid on a sliding scale, averaging three per cent and based at all times on commodity prices. Under that plan, there would be no assessment or payment of interest in years of depression. When a report was spread that Mr. Williams had proposed to the government a plan by which the market value of Alberta bonds could be knocked out still lower than their present level, in order that the government could buy in and retire the whole public debt cheaply at the expense of the bondholders, Mr. Williams declared that he was a deliberate falsehood. Meaningless chatter was waiting to see whether the government accepted or rejects his proposals.

The new "technical expert" if reports are correct, is John H. Williams, of Three Hills, Alta., which is said to have claimed that a scheme which is operating in his own district and which might be applied to the whole province, is, in effect, a practical example of Douglas Social Credit.

Little was known in Edmonton of Mr. Brison or of his plan until it was opened. G. L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Social Credit Board, had repudiated him over the week-end, denying any knowledge of him, although the Social Credit office said that he had been there until about ten days before. Reports from Three Hills, however, indicate that Mr. Brison's plan as being operated there is nothing more than a credit union of the type which has been operating in the eastern provinces and in many parts of the United States for many years, and of the kind which was provided for by the Alberta legislation last spring. In legislation which never has been followed by action.

T. H. Bryce, a technical adviser who was sent to Alberta last year by Major C. H. Douglas, is still on the provincial payroll and is still occupying an office in the legislative buildings. He and his family have moved into one of the finest homes in Edmonton, in an exclusive section of the city. No word has been heard of his activity by him on behalf of the government, however, has been known of for a long time.

Alberta's brief which first was to have been drawn up for presentation to the Rowell commission on the domestic-provincial relations and then by an order of Major Douglas and the legislature was withheld from the commission, was published privately by the government at a cost, well over $20,000. The government is still expecting to sell copies of it. It has been known, however, that despite the heavy expense involved in its being printed by the provincial government for the sovereign people of Can-

Town Fathers Meet Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Town Hall at 8 p.m. on September 22nd, with four councillors, including Mayor Playfair, present.

Regular routine business was first disposed of, including several letters of correspondence. The reports of both the Treasurer and the Engineer of the Town of Basano were accepted.

The matter of new fire hall equipment came under considerable discussion, and the following motions were carried:

Moved that the matter of new fire equipment, re second hand car chassis be referred to the Fire, Light and Police Committee to work with the Town Engineer, Carried, And Moved that if the Board of Trade elects electric fire approval, it be accepted, subject to approval of the Town Engineer.

Before the motion to adjourn was made, the following accounts were read and approved: J. H. Williams, $200.00; Basano, R. D., $300.00; Alana, G. V., $15.37; Calgary Power, $383.80; Miss W. Hansen, $49.96; Bureau of Relief, $11.51; Gateway Stores, $6.00; W. S. McLean, $17.08; W. S. McLean, $5.00; Star Service Station, $1.20; West, M. N., $13.97; Power, Treasurer, $12.50; Basano, Recorder, $7.75. TOTAL, $1,416.73.

Large Crowd Attends Gem Dance Friday

The big opening dance last Friday was very well attended. Mr. Gray in his opening address gave a very interesting talk that was enjoyed by all. Mr. Gray emphasized the fact that we should all become permanent home owners, and that we should improve the quality of our produce so that there would be a real demand. He pointed out the advantages of Algonquin farming and its success. Following the address, the grand march was played, led by Mrs. Brown and Mr. Gray.

Excellent music was furnished for the dance, and everyone had a marvelous time. A number of special dances were on the program. The dancing was won by Mrs. Herford and Jim George. The prize was won by Mrs. Vile and Mr. Brown. The prize was won by Mrs. Brown and H. Huff.

The Gem Ladies wish to thank the Gem Musicians for their contribution to the hall by their donation of the music for the opening dance.

advised that the brief is going to be considered by the Rowell commission just as though it had been presented to the Edmonton attitudes of the commission.

Therefore all the political manipulation, secrecy and expense surrounding its publication may well be considered useless. It could have been presented to the commission last spring in typewritten form without all the expense of printing, binding, and rewriting.

As finally published the brief was in two parts. The first was a resume of economic conditions, as reported to some extent after having been written by recognized economists and legal authorities; the second part was another exposition of the Social Credit theory, as presented to the legislature last spring by the Social Credit Board.

The brief contained some "recommendations" which would be very nice if the brief could possibly be carried out, but it was believed likely here that not even the most ardent Social Credit could expect success for some of them. Among them were cancellation by the dominion of $27,000,000 owing by the province; underwritten by the dominion of a refunding loan for $125,000,000 at interest of not more than two per cent and repayment to some extent after having been written by the dominion of all unemployment relief costs and old age pensions "until the new social credit order is established."

Fires Destroy Property on Gem Farmers to Meet

(By our Gem Correspondent)

Two fires of undetermined origin broke out in Gem last week, resulting in the loss of valuable property on two of Gem's farms.

Hopland Burns
One of the fires at the Hyrns home destroyed a big hog-shed. The fire was noticed about nine o'clock by B. Tegen, who gave the alarm. Ted Wade happened by about this time, and he immediately started hauling water to dampen the hay and buildings surrounding. Due to rural telephone communication a crowd assembled at about two hundred, soon gathered, and through the co-operation of everyone, all other buildings were saved. Mr. and Mrs. Ryerick wish to thank all those who so kindly responded to the call for help.

Blacksmith Shop Destroyed
Another fire broke out in the blacksmith shop at the Keeling home on Thursday, completely destroying the shop, tools, and trawls, and a number of other articles of value. Mrs. Keeling, who first noticed the fire, no doubt saved the family by immediately pulling two drums of gasoline out of the shop. The explosion of these drums, which have destroyed all of the other buildings. Mrs. Keeling regretted overlooking the blunder twice and other things, but we all agree she did a real day's work.

School Notes

(By A. P. Uhl)

Two months have elapsed since the hall and corridors of the old school echoed with the shouts and laughter of public school pupils and high school students, and now they all return to their daily rounds of raiding 'ritens' and 'kitchens'.

The high school has a larger attendance this term than for many years past, and could go far along its course if a good executive could be formed. With a willing grade IX, and a grade XII (much) after a day or two, the work is much easier and an extremely slow grade IX, an interesting series of entertainments, private and public, might very easily be arranged. These are the twenty-one students have registered but there are several more to come.

As options this year are offered: Geology, Typing and marine art and music. The typing course is much the same as last year and merely consists of typing to many plates and attaining a speed of 35 to 40 words a minute. The geology course is an interesting course, dealing with physical geography, rock formations and other minor topics too numerous to mention.

Grade IX are laboring under a heavy assignment of literature. For example: Winston Churchill's "The Crisis", Little Men, Vanity Fair and Summer's Lightning. These are only four of the ten they are placed with.

A new course in Physics is being offered in X and XI this year. It looks as if it might be quite interesting. As well as taking Physics with grade XI, they also take Geometry. Next year the new grade XI and X will take Chemistry and Algebra.

As far as sports go—table tennis has been revived, and as soon as the new basketball arrives and the field is fixed, these in high school with inclination will be out banging the ball around.

Inside Glimpses
David Walsh making shoeless boys at first—once passed a note (see page 34).

Carolyn Decker, of course, had the honor to be first one to be caught talking. Should follow the example of the boys at the back, Carolyn.

Re reporter has yet to report on our newswoman, Angus, (except that those Gr. XI girls are keeping their hair combed). However, Angus says he is to be a bachelor.

Flash—nobody late as yet.

Hold The Press—Yes, we thought so. Ramsay stamled in late.

Farmers to Meet to Discuss Cheese Factory Proposal

(By our Gem Correspondent)

A meeting will be held in the school house at Rosemary next Monday evening, 28th September, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of organizing a co-operative cheese factory. The meeting is called by Mr. J. G. Hall and Mr. J. P. Loewen, Chairman and Secretary respectively of the temporary organizing committee. Owing to the harvest work it will start promptly at 8 o'clock and business will be completed as quickly as possible, in order that the attendees may get home early. E. L. Gray, General Manager of the District will attend to discuss all phases of the proposed factory organization. All who are interested are invited to be present.

A petition for the establishment of the factory is being circulated in the Rosemary District this week by members of the committee, consisting of Messrs. J. G. Hall, C. L. Norton, A. L. Callin, Geo. Penner, H. H. James, W. L. Parker and J. P. Loewen. Any farmer who plans on shipping to the cheese factory will be up to date to attend the meeting on Monday night should contact one of the committee and sign the petition.

The District has available one or two long-term grazing leases. Any residents who are interested in these should make application for them immediately before they are let to ranchers from outside the district.

The District has an enquiry for 10 carloads of Netted Gem Potatoes, to be sold on grade and on a commission basis this fall and winter. Farmers who are interested are requested to contact the fieldmen immediately.

Opening Dance in Masonic Hall Fri., Sept. 16

The official opening of the rebuilt Masonic Hall has been set for the 16th of the month. The fire which broke out on the 24th of May did extensive damage to the hall, but repairs have recently been completed and the hall is now in top-top shape and is now being fully re-decorated.

The official opening will take the form of a gala dance and it promises to be one of the best of the season. Dancers will be delighted with the new floor and to assure them of having a good time, the Committee has engaged Revere's MacLeans "Swing-ers". The majority of orchestra has just completed a summer's engagement at Banff. Their smooth music is known to local dancers for they played at a dance in the Rink Building early in the summer.

An added attraction will be an exhibition of dancing by Miss Mary Toms and some of her pupils from Calgary. Miss Toms, who is a prominent dancer from Calgary, is opening a class of dancing in Basano in the near future.

So come along, folks, and prepare to enjoy the light and music of the first class orchestra on one of the best floors in the country. You are assured of a good time. Remember too, that the dance starts at 8:30 p.m. sharp.

Former Resident Passes in Northern District

Word has been received in Basano of the death of an old-timer of this district, Mr. Ben. Gray. Mr. Gray came to Basano about 1912 and was in business in town. He was through the Great War, suffering the loss of his right arm. About three years after returning from the War, he and his family moved to Gem and farmed; later they moved to the Crooked Creek, Peace River. The news of his death was heard with regret by his many friends of this district. He is survived by his son, Joey, of Peace River, and his daughter, Mrs. Perle, of Vancouver B.C.

RALSTON AGAIN

WELL, WELL, and we are going to have another Royal Commission to investigate something else! This time it will be the Government contracts for Bren Machine Guns about which there has been so much ado of late.

Now we couldn't have a Royal Commission unless our old friend Colonel J. L. Ralston, a genial soul, got his fingers into the pie good and deep.

It will be remembered that this gallant soldier retired from active politics (as a member of the House of Commons) for the express purpose of repleting the family fortunes. They must have been really serious, but thanks to a few odd jobs handed out since 1935 things have been much better since. Oh yes, much better, thanks!

The honourable gentleman, who hails from Halifax and is a lawyer by profession, yanked down a paltry $20,022 as Counsel for the Turgeon Grain Commission this year. He is no piker. A living allowance of $20 per day, $200 per day for legal fees and travelling expenses prove the point.

Standing "tops" on the patronage list, a loyal party man, and a' that, our warrior lawyer is out to make 1938 a banner year for himself and his personal exchequer. He has got himself appointed as Commission Counsel on the Bren Contracts. Wonder if that will mean another $20 per diem touch for services rendered. Having established union rules at that figure and being no "scab" we expect no reduction in the rate of pay.

Once upon a time Newton W. Rowell had a sort of monopoly on this sort of thing. Ralston has taken the show, and is leading the field by a wide margin. But what do the other party stalwarts of the legal profession think about such rank favouritism and plain hogwashiness.

RELIEF COSTS

DR. MANION, Conservative Chieftain, has definitely committed himself, presumably the conservative party, to the principle that the cost of relief ought to be a federal responsibility, borne and discharged by the Federal Government. If, as, and when he ever becomes Prime Minister he will be called upon to implement that promise by various premiers, mayors, reeves and the like.

The principle, heretofore maintained that relief costs were primarily a municipal responsibility is sound, and should only be deviated from in case of cases of emergency.

Undoubtedly it was the duty of the Federal Government a few years ago to step in and supply the funds for relief costs the very simple reason that municipalities could not meet the burden themselves.

But unless relief becomes unnecessary on a dominion wide scale, the responsibility of the municipality ought to revert.

Quite clearly, and there has been ample evidence of it in the past few years, once the bars are left down and the burden of relief costs pass to Ottawa permanently, it will be proper, popular and good politics to demand and get as much money as is spent locally for this purpose as possible. It is easy to make a good fellow of one's self, with money that one has no responsibility of raising. But if Mayors, Reeves, Councillors and some Provincial Premiers were could name, have none of that responsibility, their main objective in life will be to get as much as possible, to how loudly and complain bitterly if they do not get enough to surfeit their own particular communities with relief money. It is one good war of getting votes.

MILK DISTRIBUTION

INSENSIBLE Communities where there are a number of distributors of the lactated fluid, called "milk," doing business, it is customary and reasonable that bottles may be taken to any store, or by any milkman regardless of who is the proper owner thereof. The retailer charges for the bottle, and when it is returned, the money is refunded. That is all to the good.

But why, in pursuing the thought, is it not possible to inaugurate a co-operative milk delivery system in those cities where more than one distributor operates?

Review for a moment the system in Calgary: "We see milk" and "we see milk" to half a dozen milk wagons rattle up the same street; one to half a dozen milkmen stop up and clutter down the back stairs of the same apartment house; one to half a dozen different milk concerns all do business on the same stand. — Ridiculous, isn't it? Surely if it can be done with bottles it can be done with milk.

We are told that distribution cost is the largest part of the cost of milk to the consumer. Surely if a city were owned and each distributor permitted a monopoly, under control of the Utility Commissioners, it would tend to lessen distribution costs and cheapen the price of milk, which would increase consumption because axiomaticly, cheaper milk means a higher per capita consumption. Angrier markets with less spread in cost is what producer and consumer alike appreciate.

PENITENTIARIES

Astitution is a place where punishment is inflicted for some wrong done. Unless a penitentiary punishes it is not a penal institution.

And yet after reading the 418 pages of the Royal Commission empowered to investigate our penal institutions, one is forced to the conclusion that apparently the commission thought it was investigating hospitals, schools, or training institutes and not penitentiaries.

The Committee visited the seven penal institutions in the Dominion, on its mission. Then just to prove the thoroughness of the investigation, journeyed to Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland and the U.S.A. Perhaps it was a great trip and a good time was had by all.

The report contains within its pages a flock of old material and information which could have been had by writing a few letters to the proper persons, and in it there is nothing which was not known, or ought not to have been known, before the report was published by the Minister of Justice, Mr. Lapointe.

The present Minister of Justice and all his predecessors are the guilty parties if the findings of the commission imply guilt, and not General Ormrod, who was condemned unheard.

If we are going to have penal institutions in Canada, let us have them. And if institutions of the Borsal type are required let us have them too but don't call them "Penitentiaries."

From Our Exchange Columns

WHAT THE FARMER NEEDS TO KNOW.

IT WOULD COME as a shock to unthinking city dwellers to know what a variety of knowledge a successful farmer must include in his equipment before he can do so much as begin to farm. He must be a chemist, a carpenter, a weather prophet, a farmer, a water diver, a blacksmith, a doctor, a wheelwright, a bookkeeper, a veterinary surgeon, a bricklayer, a mechanic, a thatcher or tiler, a plasterer and something of a linguist. When he has assimilated a sound working knowledge of these trades and professions the farmer may turn his attention to extracting the best from his lands. Then he has to make up his mind to specialize in whatever branch of agriculture his farm is best fitted for. If it be viticulture, or rearing slaughter cattle, or raising sheep, or growing the hundred-and-one necessities of existence, he is faced with a complexity of conditions and deterrents that a lifetime study is all too short to exhaust. A glance through the Farmers' Supplement of the Sunday Times should be enough to convince the non-farming reader that the cultural background stressed by Mr. Bolha never ceases to expand, and that the most exacting profession adopted by town dwellers is child's play by comparison with the book-learning needs of the agriculturist.—Johannesburg Times.

ALBERTA DISTRUSTFUL

THE PRACTISE of abruptly dismissing public servants without investigation and without reason being given, is a Prussian not a British characteristic. It is a type of refined cruelty, vicious in principle, devastating in effect. It leaves the unfortunate person with no defence against the vile slanderous tongues at base imaginations—a toothsome morsel for idle gossipers who revel in the defamation of a good name—in the destruction of a good character.

If Mr. Aberhart as a school teacher had been dismissed without stated reasons by his school board he could do what all other school teachers may do—compel that school board to justify its action before a judge. Yet Mr. Aberhart denies to government employees the simple justice his own profession demands and receives. The injury is the greater when the tyrannous exercise of power is welded by a political chieftain who bolsters his cause by religion's abuse. With a record of twelve ministerial dismissals without even one single proof of judicial misconduct being given, Mr. Aberhart has no cause to complain if Alberta is now distrustful of his Attorney-Generalship.—Hanna Herald.

FAITH IN A CHANGING WORLD

THE GOVERNMENT of Alberta has announced that it will soon issue a "new form of credit." E. C. Manning, Provincial secretary, hopes the citizens of the province will "have as much faith in it as in the bits of paper issued by the banks." This seems to make social credit a religious conviction, rather than a political system.

But the real puzzle, of course, is which is the real genuine, 24-carat social credit system? The velocity duality, the unannounced scrip issue, or this mysterious form of credit? Or does Mr. Aberhart's economic religion operate on the evolutionary principle.—Vancouver Sun.

DOMINIONS AS GREAT POWERS

THE DOMINIONS are destined to assume the position of major powers with populations more nearly proportionate to their territorial size. But such an expansion in the far parts of the British Empire cannot occur so long as the Dominions depend mainly on pastoral and agricultural industries. They must also develop great manufacturing industries. One of the members of the British Government, who was till recently Secretary of State for the Dominions, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, is well aware of this. He sees the Dominions as major powers taking their part alongside Britain in the affairs of the world.

Recently he made a speech to the Manchester Chamber of Commerce in which he said it was inevitable and desirable that there should be growing industrial as well as agricultural activity in the Dominions, and he pointed out that the great increase of wealth and consuming power that would follow should, in co-operation, be to the advantage of the home country as well as the Dominions. British industrialists should expect and encourage industrial development overseas and concentrate on exporting those articles which Britain could most advantageously make, leaving the Dominions to make the rest for themselves. He urged them to lose no time in getting together with industrialists overseas to work out schemes of complementary production.

This is the viewpoint of constructive imperialism. It rests on a conception of a future British Empire consisting of six first-class Powers, with a co-ordinated economy and a common civilization.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE AIM OF EDUCATION

WHILE CERTAIN employers require a certificate to show that boy or girl has been successful in writing an examination for a certain grade at school—the passing of grades and memorizing certain dry facts is not the object of an education.

The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think than what to think; rather than to improve our minds, so as to enable us to think for ourselves, than to load the memory with the thoughts of other people.

The real object of education is to give children resources which will endure as long as life endures; habits that will ameliorate, not destroy; occupation that will render sickness tolerable, solitude pleasant, age venerable, life more dignified and useful and death less terrible.

A consciousness of inward knowledge gives confidence to the outward behavior, and in the words of the immortal Tennyson, "Self-reverence, self-knowledge and self-control; these three alone lead life to sovereign power."—Grenfell Sun.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ACTION SNAPS

What action! Must have taken a fast shutter to stop it! Well, no—don't tell anybody, but it was snapped at 1/250 second, approximately, by a camera of shutter speed. The athlete simply held still for a moment.

PHOTO! Soon the weather will be opening up, schools will start on their Spring athletic programs, small boys will be knocking basketballs around on vacant lots—and your youngsters very likely, will be among them.

These amateur athletes are excellent material for your camera, whether it is a box camera such as most of us have, or one of the new high-speed miniatures.

Of course, with a box camera, you cannot always expect to "stop" rapid motion. That is the field of the camera with high-speed lenses and shutters. But there's no reason why you can't get plenty of action poses with some of them so realistic that people who see them would wonder how the pictures were high-speed "stop-action" snaps.

Any athlete, proud of his muscles in uniform, should be glad to "hold" a moment for you. And small boys on neighborhood baseball diamonds cheer when they see a camera coming. They'll hold any pose you want them to.

The best viewpoint is best for action pictures, with the camera tilted slightly upward so that the sky forms the picture background. Try it, with a young pitcher "finishing up" or at the end of his delivery. He can keep his position and expression long enough for you to snap the picture—and the effect is one of genuine rapid action.

"Action" snaps of this sort not only turn out to be good pictures, but also provide plenty of fun. Try some, and see how easily the camera (and your friends) can be fooled.

Radio Jottings

By Frank E. Fleming, Publicity Dept.,
Radio Station CPAC, Calgary.

TRAIN'S WHISTLE IS CUE

TO TUNE IN.

The 10-10 train that speeds through Weston, West Virginia, Mondays
through Friday, has been dubbed by Westonites the "Dr. Ridger Special," according to a letter received by NBC from a local minister. A sharp blast from the whistle every morning is the cue for residents to tune in Dr.
William L. Ridger's program, "Getting the Most out of Life," broadcast over the NBC-Blue Network, and now heard also through CPAC at 8:15 a.m.
Dr. Ridger once lived in Weston and his fellow townsman, the correspondent informs NBC, wouldn't miss his talks for the world. By the comment made by CPAC listeners, they will shortly enjoy equal popularity here.

FOR KIDS FROM 6 TO 10

Radio's newest program of circus life is scheduled to start over CPAC at 4:45 p.m. next Monday, and will be heard by regular every Monday,
Wednesday and Friday at that time.
It deals with the real back-of-the-scenes circus life of a boy's dream is sure to like. "The 61"
of the program is "Jerry of the Circus", and tells the story of Jerry Duncan, who has been left alone in the world after the death of his father, once a widely known acrobat. The boy, accompanied by his faithful dog,
"Rags" joins Randall's Greater Circus, and from there he is led into many adventures which make grand entertainment for young and old alike.

"LUX RADIO THEATRE" RETURNS TO CPAC MONDAY

The "Lux Radio Theatre", veteran program presenting top-ranking stars of stage and screen in hour-long radio dramatizations of motion picture successes, will begin its new session next Monday, September 12, when it is heard over CPAC via the CBS and CBO networks, from 8:00 to 7:00 p.m.

The weekly plays are selected from light sophisticated draw-pool-room comedies, historical epics and mad comedies which have proved the greatest box-office draws. Last season the "Theatre" brought to listeners such stellar performances and quality productions as William Powell and Carole Lombard in "My Man Godfrey"; Janet Gaynor and Robert Montgomery in "A Star Is Born"; Clark Gable and Virginia Bruce in "Clarnum"; W. G.
Fields in "Daddy" and others. Chief
B. De Mille will continue to occupy the directors chair.

FRANCES LANGFORD ON "HOLLYWOOD HOTEL"

When "Hollywood Hotel" returns to CPAC this Friday, September 9, from 8:00 to 7:00 p.m., the musical portion of the program will feature the blues singing of Frances Langford, who has been a member of "Hollywood Hotel" almost from the beginning. During the summer Frances (Mrs. Jon Hall) has been combining an extensive personal appearance tour throughout the country with a belated honeymoon.

Dramatic part of the Langford program will feature Claudette Colbert, one of Hollywood's most famous actresses, who is to play opposite Harriet Marshall, the program's "master-of-ceremonies" in a full-length dramatization of the film
"Dark Angel", in which he appeared.

FALL MUSIC AND DANCING CLASSES OPEN

Why Everyone Should Study Music.

A good musical education is one of the stepping stones to success and happiness. The art of music develops the sense for the beautiful, communicability and association with people in general is very often the outcome of being able to play a musical instrument. Music helps to make every social gathering more enjoyable. Languages may vary, but music has a universal appeal.

As for professional or business people, there is no better hobby than that of music. It is worth far more than a mere hobby - it is an outlet for expression as well as relaxation from the strain of hard work. Music is both refreshing and inspiring to the mind. No restrictions or bonds are placed on the age when a person cannot learn more. Knowledge (which means attentive and sincere study) brings a complete recognition of music in its finer sense. What an inestimable gift it is to read music as easily as literature and to appreciate its full meaning. A trained ear is needed in "listening in", understanding the rhythms and melodies.

All children - whether or not they show ability or magnet for music - should have a musical training. Those who have a natural gift and tendency towards music should certainly not be neglected. Those who have no talents indicating an interest in music should be trained along some musical line, just as they are trained in the various studies in school. A child has the same claim to a musical education as everyone has a claim to happiness and enjoyment in life. It serves as excellent training for the mind, body and soul. Music has the power to develop sound reasoning, clear and fast thinking, and a good memory, all of which help in the everyday life of any person. A musical education broadens one's knowledge, gives a cultural background, and adds a new pleasure and joy to life. Confidence is gained by performing before groups, which gives the player more assurance in his ability to do other work.

Some people think only of the pleasure derived from playing. For those reasons they have come to think of music as a luxury. Often times parents in particular feel that music is something which the child can do without. However, the very fact that educators all over the country are placing more emphasis on musical study would indicate that this is the

THIS WEEK'S POEM IF LOVE IS THERE

(By Anne Johnson)

Is home a palace or a cot
In city streets or country spot,
With stairways wide, or narrow halls,
With pillars high, or low hung walls?
I cannot tell. Who should I care -
What matters it if Love is there?
Is home among the crowded gyps?
Or distant some lonely way?
Where winds blow cold or ice is king,
Or where the balmy breezes sing?
Where clouds are black, or skies are fair?
What matters it if Love is there?

Your home stands grand" on the hill,
Tine snuggled by the hill's bill:
The surrounding hills are YOU see -
A tiny lamp shines out for me.
Your home! My home! Just anywhere!
What matters it if Love is there?
